Dear Student,

Hello and welcome to third grade! I'm Mrs. Swift and I will be your teacher this year! I can't wait to meet you and hear all about your summer as well as share with you what I have been up to! I am looking forward to working with all of you and have been planning for this exciting school year we have ahead of us!

I hope that you all have been reading, writing, and working on math over the summer. I'm sure you have some excellent book recommendations for me as well as for your classmates. I've read several exciting books that I think that many of you will really enjoy!

There are grade level items your parents have already purchased or will purchase. The school supply list is on the Royle website under the PTO information in case you did not order in June. You will notice that the grade level supplies is fairly specific and the items have been chosen because of their quality. Also, when each student's school supplies are consistent, it contributes to the organization of the classroom. In addition to these grade level items, there are some additional materials I would like you to also bring on the first day of school:

- The just right book you are currently reading
- Your summer reading/writing notebook (if you have written in one)
- A healthy snack
- An art smock with your name on it

For now, take the last bit of summer to enjoy the beautiful weather, finish up a good book, and relax before school starts again! I can't wait for a wonderful year!

See you soon,

Mrs. Swift
